The FBI, a Vocation to Serve Robert A Casper Sr.

I thought about titling my book and decided on the title, "The FBI, A Vocation to Serve". I felt it is truly a vocation and not a job and it is a call to serve the people of America. It may be difficult to believe or may seem inconsistent but some agents were actually priests and many were in the seminary to become priests. I guess the reason that is, is because most criminals are violent people and priests' vocation is to tend to their souls while as an FBI agent's vocation is to get them off the street to protect those that can't defend themselves. The entire mission of the FBI is to protect the weaker and the integrity of the United States. As a young clerk I was inspired when I saw the agents take violent people off the street. I saw them use their God given talents to out think those violent criminals and I saw them removed from society so they couldn't harm anyone else. I have always told my children to get jobs in serve to others. I told them if they have a hard time getting to the office, maybe they are in the wrong field. I never had a problem going to work each day. I had a fulfilled life and a vocation to serve. It was grand.
